DETAILED ACTION

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 5/2/05 has been entered.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 10 is objected to because of the following informalities: Line 4, "that" should be changed to --than--. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ueta (US. 4,721,315).

Ueta discloses a gasket comprising a metal gasket plate (plate 40), an aperture through the plate (aperture 12), an annular flange (flange 61 and 62 forming a thicker portion of the plate), the flange being in surface-to-surface contact with an annular portion (portion of the plate 40 below flange 61) of the plate surrounding the aperture and integrally connected (the flange is connected to plate 40) as one piece of the same material (both the plate and the flange are metallic) to the annular portion by a double over connecting portion which defines an annular marginal edge of the aperture (the flange defines an annular marginal edge of the aperture 12).

The annular flange providing a stopper seal around the aperture (the flange 61 forms a stopper seal). The annular flange having arcuately spaced areas of varying thickness (the thickness is less in area of gasket having only 61 and larger having 61 and 62) and an outer annular margin of varying radial extend relative to the aperture (the radial extend is greater near the bolt holes 14 and less at other part of the gasket).

The plate has bolt-receiving holes spaced radially outwardly from the flange in arcuately spaced relation to one another, and the areas of the flange adjacent to the bolt-receiving hole are of lesser thickness (less thickness since only 61 is forming the flange) than the areas of the flange more distant from the bolt receiving holes (higher thickness since 61 and 62 form the flange).

The annular portion of the gasket is of uniform thickness (the annular portion 40a has uniform thickness).

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 9-10 are allowed.
6. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Prior art teaches a gasket having a metal gasket plate, an aperture through the plate, an annular flange formed as one piece of the same material as the metal gasket plate and folded over surface-to-surface contact with an annular portion of the plate surrounding the aperture, an annular flange providing a stopper seal around the aperture, the annular flange having arcuately spaced areas of varying thickness and varying radial extend relative to the aperture but do not teach that the relatively thicker areas of the annular flange having a relatively greater radial extent than that of relatively thinner areas of the annular flange.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
